

INTERNATIONAL DAY OF MATHEMATICS

www.idm314.org

1. The proclamation of March 14 as the International Day of Mathematics (IDM) has been adopted by the 40-th General Conference of the UNESCO on November 25 2019 and the official launch and first celebration will take place in 2020. Considering that March 14 2020 is a Saturday, the official launch at the UNESCO Headquarters in Paris will take place in on Friday March 13, 2020. A simultaneous launch will be held at the Next Einstein Forum (March 10-13 2020) in Nairobi, Kenya, on March 13 2020.
2. A map of worldwide events and gatherings is online at www.idm314.org. At this stage it only contains pre-announcements of events and the detail of celebrations will come later. You are invited to pre-announce your celebrations either directly on the website or by filling the form.
3. The theme of the 2020 IDM is "Mathematics is everywhere".
4. On the medias page of the IDM website(to be on line very soon) you will find:
 - • The logo in different languages
 - Invitations to celebrate in different languages
 - Instructions on how to organize an event
5. In 2020 the IDM website will post:
 - Free material, projects, ideas and software for use in classrooms, large events or small activities for the general public.
 - All content will be offered in multiple languages, and under open licenses for free use, distribution and modification.
6. You are invited to subscribe to the IDM Newsletter on the IDM website. Please circulate the information to all people or organizations that could be interested in the IDM and invite them to subscribe to the IDM Newsletter. You can use for this purpose the invitations to celebrate that can be found in different languages on the medias page.
